

CENTURY OF BLOOMS

Capture the essence of Berkeley in your home! Join Berkeley Public Library in a unique art project to help celebrate the city's spirit through the iconic symbol of a rose. These canvases that community members will create aren't just beautiful decorations; they're conversation starters, sparking memories and inspiring discussions about art and shared culture heritage.

Whether you contribute a painting or not, all are welcome to join us May 18th for our Century of Blooms Exhibition. After May 18th, canvases will be showcased in BPL's very first "Art in the Stacks".

All ages are invited to pick up a canvas starting April 1st and create your own rose painting. All paintings are due May 4th.

Feel free to follow a free rose themed Creative Bug class link below with your Berkeley Public Library card or scan the QR.

<https://www.creativebug.com/classseries/single/3-ways-to-paint-a-rose>

